Summary

- Cult-run wagons confirmed — the stolen golden chalice makes the party's suspicion explicit.

- Lord Eldrin Kaldur joins the caravan to Waterdeep and tries, in vain, to buy fresh horses from the merchants.
- Merchants hire the Company of the Boar and release Amidamaru, Mialee, Nuberroca, and Kaelthar from the guard roll.

- ~12:00 — Caravan rolls north in the rain; Mialee overhears cultists speak of delivering their cargo to Naerytar.
- Long rest. Drenched roadside camp, no fire.
- ~07:00 (13 Uktar) — Second day's march through flooded wheel-ruts; Amidamaru tends Kaldur's beasts at every halt.
- Long rest. Camp at the Fields of the Dead's northern edge, Nyx's dry stone-platform trick for bedding.

NPCs

- Lord Eldrin Kaldur — Noble bound for Waterdeep. Joins caravan; hires Kaelthar as personal guard.
- Jorath Vexundar — Signed on by the merchants as caravan guard captain.
- Gus the humble — Driving a family cart with Darla, his wife. Took Nuberroca as guard for a food share.
- Anton — Quiet friend travelling with the family.

Knowledge gained

- Naerytar as cult destination. A cultist names it as the cargo's destination; Nyx vaguely recalls reading of it, perhaps a castle.

Status changes

- Four heroes fired from the guard roll. Now travelling unpaid.
- Kaelthar — hired as Lord Kaldur's personal guard. Rides and camps close by the noble's cart.
- Nuberroca — hired by Gus the humble's family cart. Rides at the back of the line for food.
- Magical ink acquired. Amidamaru buys a flask from Thorvin Caldorath; scribing work can now begin.

Loose ends

- Three bound captives — still walking tied with the caravan; Nuberroca's one-week truce expires 16 Uktar.
